“ No words can describe the loss i feel for Tony I had the pleasure of working with Tony for many years. He would help us with jobs we had, and we would help him with jobs he got. many a time either him or i were exhausted after a big job and if one of us was too exhausted to finish, either me or him would pull through for each other and together we got it done. Tony and I worked good together and the work he turned out was always done with pride. Tony was very particular and his work reflected that. tony loved family and spoke of them often. he especially missed his father whom he talked of often. I was amazed when after Tony had a heart attack and had a stint put in that he was back at it working again in less than 7-8 days and working so hard and well that you would never had known he just had that done. We could always depend on tony to be there when we needed him. I would have helped Tony in anyway I could and he would have done the same. I only wish I would have known that he was so down. I feel like I have let him down not knowing the pain he was going through. Tony always brought a laugh and a smile to the work day. I will miss him dearly and think of him often, every time i do an asphalt job I am going to think of Tony. and wish he were there to pull me through. The thing that bothers me the most is how much one takes for granted the people who are in our lives today, will be there tomorrow. I loved tony like family, never realized just how much he was really like family till he was gone. Miss you Buddy. My heart and prayers go out to you and your family.
