“ I am so sorry for your loss of your son Austin. It is hard enough to try to put into words the emotions you are dealing with right now. But know that our Creator did not intend for us to deal with such illness and remember that He hates death: he even views it as an enemy.(1 Corinthian 15:26) He has “a yearning” to conquer that enemy, to undo death by means of the resurrection. He longs to bring back those who are in his memory and to see them live on earth again-Job 14:14,15. And for the mean time“ He heals the brokenhearted; He binds up their wounds.”(Psalms 147:3). So trust that He can comfort you.

“ Tim, Garrett just told us about Austin. I am sorry for your loss. I remember him being in the hospital at the same time Aron was there and you came and visited for a while. We were praying that things would get better, but in a way they have. He is no longer in pain and he is disease free now. You will see him again when you pass on to Heaven. Again, you are all in our prayers.

“ *So many memories come to my mind when I think of Austin, so many summers and days after school my house and yard was flooded by these boys but austin's amazing smile would always stand out or tell on them boys when they were up to no good. He was a great friend to my son through the years and a great big brother figure to my daughters. We were blessed to have known him and he will be missed. “ There is so many great memories of my beloved nephew I don't know where to start. The one that sticks out the most is his amazing smile. It lit up the whole world. It's just so hard to think we'll never get to see that again. But it's a memory we can hold on to. And with that he will be with us forever. I was so lucky to have been a part of his life. He will be truly missed and loved by all. Heaven has received the most perfect angel.

“ Tim and family,

I am so sorry for your loss. Austin was one of a kind. He fought hard and strong. He will be truly missed. I am glad for the opportunity to have had him in my life, if it was only briefly. I will always remember the fun we had when he would come in for his visits at the Cancer Center. Just know now that he is at peace no longer suffering and in pain. God bless you all.
