“ I worked with Barbie for 9 years in the trucking industry. She was funny, caring, genuine and a great cook. She used to bring these loaded baked potatoes to work for lunch and they looked so good. One day she brought me one! She was not a person to talk a lot about herself, problems, etc but she would always ask about me and my family. She had a happy attitude and even when she lost Spike to cancer she came to work every day with a smile on her face, even though I know she missed him dearly. Her work ethic was above reproach. She never missed work unless it was for a very good reason. After I left that job we stayed in touch my e-mail and then Facebook too. She always made me laugh with her funny e-mails. She used to question me about songs I liked, and then a CD that she made with those songs on it would arrive in the mail. I have several of them in my desk drawer and I still listen to them on my computer at work. I will miss Barbie. She was special. I was at the funeral today and it was a really nice service. I know she is with Spike now and that makes me happy. Rest in Peace Buddy. I will miss you.

“ Barb and I had been friends for over 25 plus years, playing cards drinking beer, and sharing long ago stories about kids and husbands. I will miss her dearly so glad I got to see her before God call her to Heaven, my heart hurts.
