“For look, I am creating a new heavens and a new earth, and the former things will not be called to mind, nor will they come up into the heart. No more will there be heard in her the sound of weeping or a cry of distress. No more will there be an infant who lives but a few days. They will not toil for nothing nor will they bear children for distress because they are the offspring made up of those blessed by God.”
Isaiah 65:17-25
