“*Christie is my ex-step sister in law , but more so, she was a great friend . I’ll miss her a lot!
She bought me my very first record! She got me Shawn Cassidy ! I was about 8 years old then, and she got my sister Dr hook! She was the first person who showed me the love for music. Also I remember the hermit crabs... she told me “don’t touch them just look!” Haha famous last words to a child!! I got pinched haha. As adults we always knew we could call each other at anytime and pick up the conversation where we last left off and talk for hours. I’m going to miss that! 48 years of friendship/family She’s gone too soon!*

“ Christie was a cousin of my husband, Jim King, who passed 2 1/2 years ago. The two of them shared memories that date back to their childhood. Although we had several conversations on the phone and on Facebook, I did not meet her till about two years ago, when she traveled to Omaha to attend Nina Jean Meth’s a “Whitaker”, funerals. She also met up with my husband’s family. The “King’s”. I always found Christie to be warm, loving and caring. Her family meant everything to her. There is no question. She was always talking highly about them, and sharing treasured pictures on Facebook.

I can say I knew of her for a long time, as I have been a part of the King family for over 43 years now.

Rest in Peace Christie! 🙏❤️
