“ Grampa, we never thought about what it would be like when you were no longer here. My favorite memories were all those Thanksgivings we all had together. We are grieving the loss of you. A life lived as a Christian man. Thankfully this isn't the final goodbye, because we share the same faith that this isn't the end. We will see you and Grandma again someday. We will wrap our arms around each other for comfort and love to get us through this loss. Hug all our loved ones that are up there with you and that has gone on before you. Tell them we miss them. We love you and until we meet again.
