“ Sissy, as we called her will be missed. My grandmother Bernetta, and her were first cousins on the Phelan side of their families. When she'd called our house she was always interested in how were doing and what we've been up to. Pat & family, take care.

“ when we were kids growing up I only knew her as Sissy...one day after we were adults I saw her in the bakery and said "Hi Sissy"... She turned around not happy and said no one has called me that for years. I apologized and told her that truth of the matter is I did not know that was not your name. we both laughed but the next time we saw each other I called her Darlene.....She will always be Sissy to me.
