“ My Mother. The strongest lady I've ever known, but with such God given grace in everything she did. I miss her very much. I knew when she accepted an invitation to spend the rest of Christmas in Heaven, that as she left here, she took the very hand of her Lord and was at peace and at home. If you knew her, you know she loved you. If you were a friend, you became her family. I learned so much from her. I hope someday I can be just a fraction of the lady she was.

“ my sweetest memory of Doris is when Dana and I were visiting on a Monday night - i had a shower before i went so no makeup or my hair wasn't fixed. as i sat at her bar and she fed me cake (that's Doris for ya) she looked across the bar and said "You're such a pretty girl without makeup". of course it was a compliment and to this day i will never forget that remark. I laughed about it. I was her daughter from another mother! she was born the same year as my mother and they shared the same name. Dana, my BFF, you know my heart aches with you. Mama was a special person.
