“ I really cannot explain in words what a wonderful man Red was. Red and I chatted a lot after school over the years. Although I know that many of the activities that I did with my classes made his job harder, he always came in with a smile. He was eager to see the mess the "leprechauns" would create when we tried to trap them and would just shake his head when we brought out the glitter. It was because of the love he had for the kids and their smiles at the end of the day that made it all ok. Although he was a man of few words, he had so much love within. He spoke often of his family and the love that he had for all of you. I know nobody who worked harder to provide for those he loved. He is truly missed. - Julie Rains

“ Red is missed by his Sunflower family. He was the epitome of a dedicated worker and compassionate human. Red touched many lives at our school and his memory lives on in each of us. Thank you for sharing him with our work family. Please reach out if there is anything the Sunflower family can do to support you moving forward. - Jason Jones

“ *Jim always told the girls. Say what you mean and mean what you say.
That was pretty much the rule he lived by his whole life.
I'll miss you Reddog. No one is stepping on you chain anymore.
