*You have always been in my prayers since the moment that I met your family, God has you in his arms and he will help give strength to your mommy and daddy and sister, etc.
I am so sorry for your lose, But we have to find strength in each other and think that a little angel named Jaxson is watching over all of us.
You love him as well as he loves you, with all of his heart. Lets remember this little angel like he is a strong and beautiful baby prince!!!!*
