“ I met Johnny Wayne in at the end of first grade. We became good friends during our growing up years. I remember our walks to school with our little group or hanging out under the street lights on the corner. Johnny Wayne was the nicest guy in our neighborhood. We had lost touch over the years but was really nice to connect with him again these past few years. rest in peace, my friend.

“ I was trying to remember how we met, but I don't remember. I guess what's important, is that we did. Memories??? I remember staying up until 3am playing Mario Bros. I remember cranking the PA up as loud as we wanted and rocking to whatever we chose to play. I remember you trying to sing. (LoL) I remember chats in the middle of the night on the phone and then later, on Facebook. You've been my friend a long time and I already miss you, but I'm glad you're no longer in pain. I'm happy for you as I picture you drumming Iron Butterfly's entire In-A-Gadda-Da-Vida drum solo for my daddy, but I'm sad for the void you've left. I will do what I can to remember you as the years I have left pass and hope to tell any future grandchildren of yours by Caity or Glen, stories about you. ;) Until we meet again, my friend - Rock On!

“ My Daddy was my first love. He treated me like a princess and always put us first. Ill never forget the man he was.. musician, father, Fisher, therapist, devoted, and my best friend in the entire world. You are not gone. You are here with me. Every where I go. You have joined grandpa in being my Angels. Forever
