“ I have known Johnnie since we first met in high school in 1973 where we bonded over the Lord of the Rings books. We went on to share a dorm room at CMSU before she married. Johnnie loved family, animals, especially cats, reading, art, Christmas and the ocean. she loved to swim. Some of our best times together were floating on Stockton Lake where we managed to spend a few days each summer for several years. Johnny enjoyed keeping up with the royal family and all things British. She had excellent taste and decorated her home beautifully. Some of her favorites were Spode china, Waterford crystal, and Pre-Raphaelite art. I loved to visit her warm, inviting apartment. Her Christmas tree was a thing of wonder. Johnny loved old fashioned mysteries, especially the Peter Wimsey series of books. She loved spooky (not gory!) films and books. She loved her kids and talked about, worried about, and prayed for each of them every day. She was over the moon for her grandchildren, always keeping me up to date with stories and pictures. She cherished each visit with them and especially enjoyed babysitting Calvin. Johnny was a loyal friend and spoke often of Gloria, Marge, Francis and others. Johnny knew Jesus as her Lord and Savior. Johnny was a special person. She has been a friend throughout my life, and I miss her.

“ Although I may have not known you well, I did enjoy the mutual times we saw each other at an event for one of the kids or grandkids. Such a sweet lady and mom to some really wonderful children. Although I only know Mike and Mary, I know she was a great mom and I am so sorry to the family for such a painful loss.

“ We were acquaintances for years through Maranatha and church but became so really good friends in the past three years. We had our love for the Lord and books in common and, though we differed politically, we bonded over many lovely things like: afternoon tea, Irish roots, children and grandchildren, collectibles and other girlfriend things. I will miss her greatly and will remember her the rest of my life. God bless you, Johnnie, my sweet, dear sister in the Lord.
