“ Oh my goodness, I left out the most important part of my story about the snake that was coming toward me when we all playing hide and seek in Aunt Mackey and Uncle Slick's back yard. Not only was the snake coming toward me, but he bit me on the big toe and then stated crawling away. That's when my Uncle Slick and my Daddy (Lee Freisner) came running out of their house and Uncle Slick got to me first and he swooped me up and took me and the snake to the hospital, so they could determine whether or not the snake was poisonous. Scarry but funny story, I will never forget it. I love you Uncle Slick and can't wait to see you, Aunt Mackey and all our other relatives and friends that have gone on to Heaven before us. My sweet memory is living in the small house in back of uncle Slick & aunt Maxine's house. How we got "nine" in there is still mind boggling, but somehow it was always fun. Ya'll always played with us & made it fun. Thanks for the memories. :) I love you!

“ Uncle Slick (Lee) will be missed, but we can be assured that we will see him again in Heaven. He is now up there with many family members that have gone on before him. The one memory that has always stuck with me about my Uncle Slick is that when I was a young girl, we were at their house (as we were many times) and me & my brothers & sisters were outside playing hide & seek. I was hiding behind a tree & all of a sudden I saw a snake crawling toward me; I froze & could not move a muscle. My sister Sandy saw it coming toward me but could not say a word. I vividly remember seeing her pointing at the snake & she was talking about the snake but nothing was coming out of her mouth. My Uncle Slick found out what was going on and he came running out the back door and he killed the snake & put it in a jar and then he swooped me up in his arms and took me and the snake to the hospital, so they could find out whether or not the snake was poisonous. On my goodness, that memory will stay with me for the rest of my life. That is probably one of the things they are laughing about right now. We had so many fun times at our Uncle Slick (Lee) and Aunt Mackie's house with Jerry, Melba and Chester (Chesty). We love them all dearly and look forward to seeing those that have gone ahead before us in Heaven. Precious times that I cherish... Trish (Tesa)
