“ Leroy, it's been 2 years since you've been gone and I've realized that the void of losing you will never be filled. Sadly, life around the void and grief just gets bigger but the mourning of you not being here will never go away. I think about you everyday and talk to you every night until this day. I miss you more than words can explain especially with the holidays around the corner, which were you're favorite, you'd remind us every holiday and say "I love my family.." Bittersweet news is there are medications and research trials continuing to progress to help with ALS, which I know you prayed for, I wish you never had to experience that disease but I know you'd be happy that it'll help others because you always put everyone else, even strangers before yourself... I love and miss you much!!

God bless Leroy and his family. I worked with him at Securitas for Sprint. Always a kind and fun guy to work with. RIP my friend and love/prayers for your family during this rough time.
