“ Thinking of Marie on her birthday—Today, July 4th. She had a kind heart, an encouraging word and was loved dearly. Mike traded letters with her for years and we both looked forward to hearing what was new with her. One day the letters stopped and we had wondered why. We are heartbroken to hear of her passing, but know that she is celebrating her birthday in style now with our Heavenly Father. Happy Birthday Marie Russell. 🌞🎂🎈

“ Mom was so much more than I knew. Recently, I learned when she went through a McDonald's drive through, near her home where she lived with my sister, mom encouraged the cashier that worked the drive through, to continue his education. She told him this repeatedly. Sean, the young man she encouraged, would visit mom when she had to move to assisted care living. Sean shared his life achievements, getting engaged. Brought his fiancée to visit. Sean went on to get his Bachelor's degree and fully credits mom for his inspiration to succeed. Mom was my world for a large percentage of my life. She never once stopped caring, loving, supporting or believing in me. Mom, you will be missed.
