“ My brother Mark and I shared many great times. He built cars, trucks, motorcycles, bridges and weapons. He was very skilled at working on anything with a motor. He had more cool hot rods than anyone I know. He loved working with his hands and helping his family with their projects. There was never a dull moment when Mark was present. We always shared a good laugh when we were together. His presence will be missed but never forgotten. He loved his wife, children, family and friends as he expressed this in many ways and in conversation. My brother Mark was a big influence in my life and I am thankful every day.
