“ Orville and my Dad were friends as long as I can remember. They rode motorcycles together, back in the day. Orville was kind, and spoke with a great deal of thought. It was Orville, who found lawn mowers, cars, and various electronic devices, when my Dad asked him if he knew of one for sale. Dad put a lot of stock in Orville's ability to find, or make things work. I figure they will have a lot to catch up on.
