“ I feel so very blessed to have a plethora of memories to look back on with the world's greatest grandmother. We have laughed we have cried. Your laugh was without a doubt the best laugh I have ever heard and your face was completely adorable how you would try to hold it back and your smile would turn into a cute little smirk. We cooked together we shopped together we sat and talked together. When I lived with you and you still worked at the bar was some of my best memories of you. You were in your element. You had control of all situations and you were loved and highly respected. I treasure a few memories the most. When I was living in the room across from you and I was scared. You told me to sleep next to you and that I was safe. And, the times you told me how much you loved me with an urgency when I was caring for you. And, how selfless you were. How you still asked me how I was. How you told me you were like a mother to me and that I could tell you anything. I treasure those words so much. I want to thank my dad William Wyrick for all you did for grandma and my mother Angela Wyrick for sleeping alone for the last year so grandma didn't have to. I also want to thank Sandy, Kathy ,Donna, Angela and Andrea for the time they dedicated to our precious Patriarch. I feel it is important to share what gives me comfort during this time. Pauline Griggs Wyrick is fully restored. Her hair is no longer white. She is young and vital full of more joy and happiness than anyone can feel in this 3d earth. One day we will all be together. There will be no memory of arguments we (all people) had in this life. We will be pure love and light one with God. Grandpa Ray will be there and Herman and all those we lost. There will be no limitations. Remember we have no reason to fear. God wins.

I miss my mom alot. She would tell me she felt bad that I had to take care of her every night, but I didn't mind. Her mind would come and go. She'd tell Willie "is that little girl that cooks so good coming tonight?" Willie would tell her "mom that little girl is your daughter. That's kathy" she'd say oh I know that! But she was totally confused at that point. That-s okay though, I know she loved me which ever time her mind was in . I was actually glad when God took her home. She was so confused and sad. She didn't know where she was or where my dad or herman was. She wanted to see Jason and couldn't understand why we wouldn't bring him to her so she could rock him until he was better. It was better for her to be released from the mind that had taken hers away. I love you mom and I'll always miss you forever. Now you can be yourself again, with no worries. Take care of all our family again, the best thing you ever did in your life.

“ Gonna miss my mom so much. She was a hard working lady all her life. She raised 9 kids, who she wartched like an old mother hawk!! She and my dad made sure we never wanted for anything all our lives. She knew so many people throughout her 94 years, and i truly believe she had respect from them all. She was a tough lady that no one wanted to mess with. I gonna miss her and her stories. Love you mom.
