“ In the past, once a month we spent going to lunch the 6 of us girls Betty, Dee, Kay, Frances, me (Joyce) and Ruth was so much fun just spending time with friends. The first time I went with the girls Ruth said to me, Joyce where is your jewelry your have beautiful hands where are your rings, ear rings and jewelry. After Bob passed away I just didn't want to do nothing but Ruth made me feel better about that, Ruth was so sweet, nice and she was very funny. The time we spent together was something to look forward to every month, I will miss Ruth so very much. May you rest in peace Ruth! your friend Joyce

“ Ruth was one of my dearest friends. I have known her for years, but really started to get closer after her husband passed away. She was quiet, but "spunky". You never had to wonder what she was thinking about a particular situation because as soon as her mouth opened she was going to tell you. I liked that, you always knew where you stood. We would run around and act like idiots and I always had a good time when we were together. One of our favorite things to do was drive around WyCo lake and look for deer. She was a terrible spotter, but boy did she get excited when you pointed one out to her. She would start kind of jumping up and down in the car saying "oh look that is a big one". No telling how much gas we used driving around there looking. If we did have a dry run all was not lost, we could still go get an ice cream cone. We spent countless hours on the phone, this increased greatly after the death of my own Mother. I use to call my Mom everyday on the way home from work and talk all the way home. After her death I did not know how I was going to fill that special time every day. Ruth said just call me and I will talk to you instead and that is what we did. We solved most of the worlds problems on those call and few of our own. Those calls meant a lot to me, we laughed and cried and somedays really did not have that much to say, but we they were always good. Those phone calls ended about two weeks ago when Ruth could no longer come to the phone. She was just too sick. She use to tell people I was her second daughter, but I wasn't. But I am proud to be able to say we were friends and in the world today if you can find a true loyal friend you are rich. I won't get to come to town to say my last goodbye- San Antonio is a long ways, but I could not let the opportunity go by to tell you about a very special lady in my life, my FREIND Ruth Fritz. I will always love you and miss you already, but I have some awful good memories that I would not trade for the world.
