“ I am so glad I got to know Steve these last five years after Don and I moved to Kansas. He was a dedicated Bible student and I always looked forward to hearing him speak. After Don was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer in May, 2010, and we started treatments in Chicago in November, 2010, Steve started coming to visit Don nearly every week! And he asked if he could drive us to the airport and pick us up on our return when we made those monthly trips to CTCA for Don's treatment. His kindness and generosity was so much appreciated. Don looked forward to their visits and those Train Dominoes games! I wonder, if the Lord allows, if they have already picked up where they left off and have a rousing game of Train Dominoes going on right now?? Perhaps they are too busy with just singing and praising God together:) Dorcas Freeman

“ I first met Stephen in Topeka, KS back in the 1980's when he hired on as a Radiation Control Inspector at the Kansas Dept. of Health and Environment. We worked in the Environmental Monitoring and Emergency Response Planning Section together before he moved over to "the feds" at the Environmental Protection Agency for several years--and before he found a stronger calling as an instructor and mentor, instead of a "techie." Perhaps the tributes posted so far show that for some of us, if one scratches the surface, one finds a heart for service and for people, no matter what one's job is at any given time in one's life. Rest in peace-

“ I am blessed to have known Steve. He was always willing to help at a moment's notice. He was an angel to me when I had my two nieces in my car on a really cold day and a flat tire near his home. I called for help and he dropped everything to get my tire changed. He was a gentle soul that touched many lives.

“ Steve was a wonderful man that had a wealth of knowledge to share with all. Although he tended to keep to himself once you got him talking you always learned something new. Steve truly left a lasting impression that will continue to make a positive difference in the Church.

I am not sure I can summarize here all that Steve meant to me in a short paragraph. I was privileged to have known him for a life time, and learned the struggle of a human soul to rise to the top in the most adverse circumstances. He has been, and will always remain the special person that he was. My Muslim faith tells me that many of us are challenged in this life to not only be tested for our patience, but to recognize the suffering of others. Steve exemplified both of these qualities admirably. I will miss his humor, knowledge and forever challenging me to question the meaning of this temporary life on earth. May you rest in peace my friend, and know that you touched more lives in many ways than you will ever know.

I like Samira above want to express that Steve was a very special man. I knew Steve first as a personal friend and then as an instructor at JCCC. He had a wonderful knowledge of finance when he taught Savings and Investments and Personal Finance. I know he recently has had serious health issues but I want to let his family know that he was very special. His being a fellow staff member has had a special meaning to a number of friends and associates at JCCC. Jim Evans
